Abstract
In the said cross facilities, there is one isolating belt around the police station with inlets from and outlets to the roads in all directions. Inside the isolating belt, is road for motor vehicle to go straight forward and to turn left; and outside it, is road for motor vehicle to turn right and footpath. Straight forward and turning left bicycle and pedestrian pass through the upper or the lower layer subway bridge. Being simple and economic, the present invention can reduce the cross passing between motor vehicles and bicycles.
